Products

We feel we have developed "Simply the Best Transmission Pan Gasket" using our Ultracork material. The success of this product is the result of our internal research and development supported with recommendations from the technicians who use the product. This is part of our customer support effort, "Serving your needs." The product combines the resilience of rubber with the compressibility and recovery of cork. Since we produce the material and the gaskets, we have the ability to engineer Ultracork specifically for the pan gasket applications. The product is currently used in many of the national name-brand transmission filter kits. Visit us at www.amorimperformancesolutions.com for more information about Ultracork and its applications.

COMPANY PROFILE

COMPANY HISTORY

European Exchange was established in 1992 in Hackensack, NJ. It has been a major supplier in the industry of European and Asian Transmissions specializing in Mercedes Benz and all ZFs. The staff's experience started in 1976 doing work for BMW of North America, Peugeot of North America, Rolls Royce and indirectly for Chrysler Corp.

Originally starting out in a 3,000-square-foot building, the company has rapidly grown and found it necessary to expand. In 1998 it relocated a short distance away to a new facility, occupying over 10,000 feet.

European Exchange distributes its products nationwide., supplying most independent and franchise transmission shops, as well as general repair facilities, We also provide most major warranty companies as a source for remanufactured transmissions. Our facility has 6 lifts available for local businesses that prefer the installation to b done by our techs.

In order to supply our customers with all their import and exotic transmission needs, we have over 2,500 cores, all of which, when remanufactured, are supplied with converters and a one year unlimited mileage warranty. Along with the complete line of import transmissions we can supply any needs for domestic units as well.)

Our company is also proud to be the sole supplier to the transmission industry of the Launch X-431 import car diagnostic scan tool. After conducting comparison tests with competitors' scan tools, we feel this is best tool on the market and invaluable for any shop involved with repairing import vehicles.

COMPANY OVERVIEW

The Only OEM Endorsed Transmission Additive On The Market Today!

It's the 20th anniversary for International Lubricants, Inc. Since 1984, ILI has been the leader in research, development and manufacturing of patented high-performing ester-based synthetic lubricants and related products for the Automotive, Industrial, Marine and Agricultural industries.

ILI manufactures LUBEGARD® ATF Protectant, the only product of its kind used, endorsed & recommended by multiple OEMs; Kooler Kleen™ Line Flush Cleaner, also used and rebranded for multiple OEMs. Kool-IT® Coolant Treatment, is the only product of its kind approved for use by the largest radiator manufacturer.

The Unique Difference

ILI takes pride in the fact that it produces and manufactures its own products, unlike others who purchase standard production chemicals. ILI's research and development department has produced over 100 US and Foreign patents on various lubricant technologies. Its Unsurpassed Liquid Wax Ester (LXE®) Technology, which is found only in LUBEGARD products, is proven to be Unsurpassed in various performance levels. It's proven to provide the best protection compared to any competing product by the most rigorous tests via the top independent and third party certified laboratories as well as in the field by professional rebuilders and OEMs around the world.

ALL STAR CONTEST ENDS

4th Official All-Star Contest Near End!

Be sure to send in your final LUBEGARD ALL STAR submissions by the deadline of January 31, 2005. And remember, official LUBEGARD All Star Stickers can be found on all LUBEGARD®, Dr. Tranny™, Squeak Relief® & Kool-IT® products.

THE TECHNOLOGIES

Originally developed by Dr. Phil Lands, all LUBEGARD products contain Liquid Wax Esters (LXE's) which have a molecular structure that allows unsurpassed transfer of heat making the technology the most heat stable product ever sold. The Liquid Wax Esters themselves are so heat stable they outperform the nearest competitors products by over 100 Degrees Fahrenheit! LXE's exceptional lubricity (wetting agent) and heat resistance is why the Lubegard ATF Protectant with LXE is Used, Endorsed, Designated and Approved by multiple OEM's as well as by professional rebuild technicians around the world.

Synergol® TMS was developed and designed to be used in conjunction with LUBEGARD's LXE technology for Universal applications. Synergol TMS is the first non-active, low-phosphorus-based, surface molecule. Which, when added to existing automatic transmission fluids, drastically reduces wear on parts and metal surfaces. It makes all automatic transmission fluids work at their optimum, improving the surface layer's performance in all components, which is why it will work in all ATF applications. In fact, Synergol's lubricant performance will extend far beyond normal fluid life. Since Synergol is not consumed its effectiveness increases over time, providing continuous protection to all internal parts of the transmission.

Our History

Wilson Core Supply. In the early 1960's, it became Slauson Transmission Parts, specializing in used and rebuilt hard parts. Slauson was incorporated in 1980 and continued to thrive and expand. By 1984, having outgrown their Los Angeles warehouse, the company relocated into their current facility in Rialto, California.

The Slauson Transmission Parts catalog was introduced in 1990, and quickly became an industry standard for transmission shops nationwide. In 1996 the state-of-the-art parts identification system, SmartPart™ was introduced. In that same year, Slauson also launched their online electronic catalog and web presence at www.slauson.com. Slauson Transmission was the first transmission parts company to embrace new internet technologies as a method of marketing, identifying and cataloging transmission parts.

In 1998, Slauson expanded their product line to include a complete line soft parts. In September of 2000, Slauson introduced the new Digital Catalog on CD, enabling the user to easily locate and price products offline and online. Today, Slauson maintains an inventory of over 40,000 parts in a warehouse and manufacturing facility of over 35,000 square feet. Slauson is one of the largest family owned and operated Transmission Parts Companies in the world.

2004 finds Slauson returning to the Los Area with a new satellite location in Gardena, providing Will Call and free delivery to local shops in addition to their worldwide shipping operation in Rialto. This year also marks the first new release of the "Slauson Book" since 2001.

These are exciting times at Superior Transmission Parts

Superior Transmission Parts is proud of the reputation it has earned over the years for its popular lines of Shift Correction Packages, Fairbanks Performance Products and Simple Solution Problem Solvers. Today, in addition to supporting its existing product line, Superior continues its tradition of delivering real solutions to real problems with the introduction of several new items to the line including the new CD4E Shift Correction Package, the Intermediate Servo Spacer Kit and the 4L60-E 3-2 Downshift Valve Spring and Valve Stop. Like all Superior products, the new products are produced under strict quality-control guidelines, made of the finest available materials - and most importantly - they work.

Focus On Quality - All Superior employees are committed to total quality control. Before a product is brought to market it is tested in both laboratory and real-life applications. No product is put into production until it meets rigid standards for performance and reliability. Once in production, only the best available materials are used and the entire production process is continuously monitored for quality. By producing precision parts in-house, right here in the USA, Superior can assure a high-level of quality control.

Superior's complete line of Shift Correction Packages, Steel Series Replacement Valves, Fairbanks Performance Products, and Simple Solution Problem Solvers continue to enjoy wide acceptance and popularity. However, Superior continues to deliver more of what builders are looking for. Among the latest Superior innovations is The CD4E Shift Correction Package helps salvage worn valve bodies in CD4E transmissions without the need for bore modifications. Another new problem solver is Superior's new Intermediate Servo Spacer Kit is designed for 904/500-727/61 units to clean up the i-2 shift as well as better time the servo release on the 2-3 upshift and improve the 3-2 kickdown. Also new to Superior's Award winning line of products is The 4L60-E Downshift Valve Spring and Valve Stop that replaces the OEM spring and along with the new stop sleeve helps to prevent similar failure. For more on Superior's latest products, visit our web site at www.superior-transmission.com.

Besides manufacturing quality products, Superior Transmission Parts offers excellent support. Each product comes with fully illustrated, easy-to-use instructions, and friendly, knowledgeable technical support is only a telephone call away. The Superior technical support department is standing by to answer questions concerning the installation and operation of any Superior product.
